Washington, February 10.—(Special)—John Walter Q. Gresham, of Illinois, secretary of state; John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, secretary of the treasury; Daniel G. Lamont, of New York, secretary of war; H. Smith, of Georgia, secretary of the interior—this is Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, as far as he has gone up to date.

Judge Gresham has been selected. There is no longer any doubt about it, though democratic senators and representatives in Washington are raising a great noise.

Many are indignant that Mr. Cleveland should have selected a man who has always been recognized as a republican, though personally every one speaks in the highest terms of Judge Gresham as an honest, straightforward and able man. The secretary of state is third in line of promotion to the president. In the event that Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Stevenson should be the country who has always been regarded a republican as president, though the people spoke in favor of a democrat. In Judge Gresham's letter explaining his vote for Mr. Cleveland, he said he was a republican and had always been, but that he differed with his party on the tariff question, and believed Mr. Cleveland the better man of the two candidates for president.

While the majority of the democrats object to Judge Gresham's appointment on these grounds, because he was a candidate in the republican presidential nomination in 1888, the republican leaders are not. They have such a high opinion of Judge Gresham as a man of honor and ability that they endorse Mr. Cleveland's selection. They believe it will strengthen the party by winning many republicans over. The democrats as Mr. Springer, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Bryan are quoted as endorsers for the selection.

I have it from an intimate friend of Mr. Gresham who was with him on Wednesday, that the president-elect's first idea was to appoint Edward J. Phelps, of Vermont, as former minister to England, as secretary of state. Mr. Phelps is however using the Behring sea commission, and is thus engaged for six months, or more. This gentleman tells me that Mr. Gresham's present intention is to have Mr. Carlisle, secretary of state for another year. Then Justice will retire from the supreme court, having reached the age of retirement, and he will appoint Judge Gresham to the vacancy and tender the state portfolio to Edward J. Phelps. Whether such an idea will be carried out, of course, remains to be seen. One thing is certain: That is that Walter Q. Gresham, of Indiana and Illinois, has been tendered the state portfolio and has agreed to accept it.

But there are democrats here who believe that after the present squall among the democrats over his appointment grows into a storm, which they regard as certain to sweep Judge Gresham, who is said to be a skilful man, will decline even at the last moment. There was some gossip about the senate today to the effect that there were democrats in that body who would oppose the confirmation of Judge Gresham. Of course that is hardly possible, but such talk may prevent Judge Gresham from accepting.

I talked with a number of democrats about Judge Gresham's appointment today. Representative Tarsney said he did not think the appointment would be justice to the democratic party.

Mr. Culberson, of Texas, said: "I cannot believe the news to be true."

Representative Fitch, of New York, said he was surprised at the appointment. He said: "There is nothing in the talk of his not being a democrat, of his having to recently come from a republican party. That is the way they used to talk about me when I left one congress in which I had served as a republican and came back to the next congress as a democrat. There was a great deal of talk about my not being a democrat, but I am a democrat and no one questions it now."

Colonel Oates, of Alabama, said: "I cannot believe it possible that Judge Gresham will be appointed secretary of state. I had thought a democrat would be appointed."

Fargo, Dak., February 10.—Waldo M. Potter, register of the United States land office, who has earned the sobriquet of "Father of the republican party of North Dakota," comes out in a scathing letter in which he renounces all allegiance to the republican party and asserts the democracy of Grover Cleveland.

For nearly twelve years he has watched the action of the republican bosses in the state and found them to be a set of tyrants who have dragged down the party from a majority of two-thirds of the voters to ignominious defeat.

Mr. Andrew, of Massachusetts, said: "I do not believe it."

Representative Conpton said: "I regret it is true. I cannot help believing that the country can furnish enough men who are democrats to run the government under a democratic administration without the selection of one but a few months ago in explaining his vote for Cleveland, said that he was not a democrat."

The Bonds Must Be Issued.

Though the officials of the treasury department deny the statement that bonds are to be issued to pay the expenses of the government and prevent bankruptcy, the statement is believed to be correct. A prominent member of the house who has been consulted on the question by the secretary of the treasury told me today that while he did not know that any bonds had as yet been issued, Secretary Foster was prepared to issue them and he thought it possible that they would be floated immediately. Perhaps, he said, some of them had already been floated for the purchase of gold.

Colonel Lester's Work.

Colonel Rufus E. Lester, of Savannah, has done some remarkably good work in this congress. He has always looked out for the interests of Savannah, and he manages to scoop everything in sight for Georgia's rivers and harbors. His work is getting through the million-dollar appropriation for Savannah's harbor in the sundry civil bill.

Besides being a good writer and a very popular man with the other members of the house, Colonel Lester is one of the few good speaking officers in the house. He has been called to the chair in committee of the whole during the consideration of several bills during this congress and has always presided remarkably well, though in Washington, February 10.—(Special)—Now that the talk of silver legislation at this session has subsided, and those who were here from the outside interested in pushing the repeal of the Sherman bill through the house without the substitution of anything better, have returned home, gossip is abundant concerning the strenuous fight that has been made.

There is no doubt that Mr. Cleveland has been very much interested in the repeal of the Sherman law and has done much to help about the present strained relations of the two countries in order to accomplish the legislation they desire. Many of the democrats who have been

TEE HAS BEEN NAMED

The Day in Macon—Matters

to the Military—Social and Personal Gossip.

Macon, Ga., February 10.—(Special)—

Here is a piece of information that will be surprising to banking and commercial circles.

The Merchants' National bank of Macon, has decided to discontinue business.

The affairs of the institution are now being brought to a close.

The Merchants' bank will be the success of the Merchants' National bank.

It will be conducted as a private institution.

Mr. Walter T. Johnston, the present

president of the Merchants' National bank, succeeded to that position on the death of President R. E. Lawton a short time ago.

The Merchants' National was organized by Major Lawton and others

1887, with a capital stock of $100,000.

Major Lawton and Mr. W. T.

Johnston owned $81,300 of the capital or $13 shares of the 1,000.

On the death of Major Lawton his interest was chased by Mr. Johnston and that general now owns the $13 shares of the bank, the stockholders will get par value for the stock on the dissolution or discontinuance of the Merchants' National bank, and all the deposits and stock of the Merchants' National will be transferred to the Merchants' bank. The Merchants' bank will have a capital stock of $50,000, and the stockholders will get par value for the stock on the dissolution or discontinuance of the Merchants' National bank, and all the deposits and stock of the Merchants' National will be transferred to the Merchants' bank. The Merchants' bank has a deposit account of $100,000. Since its short existence it has been paid an annual dividend of 6 per cent.

The present directors are W. A. A. B. Smith, W. T. Johnston, of Montgomery, and E. DeVaughn, of Montgomery.

The Southwestern Stockholders.

The Southwestern railroad stockholders' meeting reassembled this morning and the temporary officers of yesterday's meeting were made permanent officers. John A. Davis, of Albany, introduced resolutions which were in effect an unqualified endorsement of the plan of reorganization proposed for the Central road. The resolutions provoked a storm of opposition and discussion. Mr. R. T. McCoy of Baltimore, said the resolutions had the tendency to rush the road to hell and destruction. Mr. T. B. Gresham, of Baltimore, said the adoption of the resolutions would be the funeral knell of the Southwestern railroad and would blot the out of existence. He declared that nothing of the kind, was now to be done, and W. G. Raoul from the presidency of the Central railroad and was largely responsible for the present deplorable condition of the Central road. The Speaker is a man of great influence, and the Willing- men alone is sufficient to keep alive and prosperous a good sized bank. The Merchants' National has a deposit account of $100,000. Since its short existence it has been paid an annual dividend of 6 per cent.

The Sale Not Confirmed.

At midnight, after three days' discussion, Judge Jenkins refused to confirm the sale of the Macon Telegraph recently made at public outcry to the bondholders for $7,500. The future disposition of the paper will be decided by the court tomorrow.

The Merchants' National bank of Macon, Ga., February 10.—(Special)—

The new name is Mr. Mills, selected in the place of Frank H. Miller, of Augusta, who preferred not to serve as a director, and he is counsel for the road. The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

The Military Boys.

A very interesting meeting of the officers of the Second Georgia regiment was held at the armory of the Macon Volunteers this evening. There was a full attendance of the officers of the Macon companies, and many of the companies from the various companies outside of Macon that belong to the Second Georgia regiment. Among the visiting officers were Captain Davis, of the Perry Rifles; Captain Bailey, of the Spalding Grays; and Lieutenant C. A. Satterlee, of the regiment. Lieutenant C. A. Satterlee, of the United States army, was also present, having come from Atlanta especially to attend the meeting. Colonel C. M. Wiley, the commander of the regiment, presided. There was considerable discussion on what might affect the interests of the Second Georgia regiment, and the military of the state in general. Lieutenant Satterlee read a very interesting paper on the subject of military and civil law in riots. The paper bore more particularly on the civil law.

One of the chief points of incident of the meeting was the presentation, by the officers of the regiment to Colonel Wiley, of an elegant saddle and blanket, bridle, pair of riding boots and gold mounted spurs. Captain J. L. Hardwick, of the Floyd Rifles, made an eloquent speech in presentation of the cap of the family. Col. Wiley responded in a very appropriate and happy manner. Colonel Wiley is exceedingly popular with all the officers and privates of the Second Georgia regiment. There is no commander in the state more highly esteemed by the soldiers, and is more faithful and efficient in the discharge of his duties. The meeting decided to adopt for the regiment the regular state uniform for fatigue suits, and the dress suits will be the same as the fatigue suits, except that white helmets will be used for dress. In place of the caps of the family, the dress suits will be used. The dress suits of the meeting were discharged all the officers' partook of an elegant supper, and it was after midnight before the meeting adjourned.

YOUNG CHARLEY RANSOM'S BREAK

Probably Fatal Hurt His Aunt with a Mallet. He Is Now in the Lockup. Young Skipper Held.

For assaulting and probably fatally wounding his aunt, Charley Ransom, a fourteen-year-old white boy, is locked up at the police station. The tough young scamp is in his cell, unregenerate and easy of mind.

The assault of which the young rascal is accused occurred Thursday night, but Ransom was only arrested yesterday morning. He was ordered held on a charge of assault with intent to murder, but Captain Manley had a city case made against him for disorderly conduct. He will be held until his aunt either recovers or dies, which he will be tried before the recorder.

The case against him is an ugly one. Young Ransom lives with his aunt, Mrs. Mary Ransom, at 68 Leonard street, and has made his home with her for some time. She has tried hard to keep him straight, but he is a bad boy, and her efforts have availed little.

Thursday night young Ransom was extremely noisy, and his aunt attempted to correct him. He grew the more boisterous as his aunt's words of reproof fell upon his ears. His aunt continued to talk to him, and finally finding that her words had produced no effect, she told him to leave the house. He was in a terrible rage by this time, and picking up a heavy wooden mallet he threw it at her with all his might. The missile struck her heavily on the head, knocking her to the floor in unconsciousness. The boy ran off.

The blow was so severe that neighbors had to be called in to look after Mrs. Ransom. A physician was called in, and her injured head was attended to. Yesterday morning young Ransom was pointed out to Mounted Officers Bertha and Patterson, and they arrested him and lodged him in the police station.

Mrs. Ransom is critically ill, and may die. Young Ransom will be held until there is some change in her condition. The youthful prisoner seems to feel no uneasiness of conscience by reason of his perhaps fatal attack upon the lady who has made every effort to raise him correctly. Want to Get Skipper Out.

A strong effort was made, yesterday to secure the release of young T. D. Skipper, the alleged express robber, who has been in the police station for several days.

His father reached the city yesterday morning and immediately began work to get his son out in advance of the arrival of the Alabama officers.

He engaged Messrs. Hines, Shubrick & Feller to sue out a writ of habeas corpus, which they did before Ordinary Jallison yesterday morning. The grounds upon which the writ was based were that Skipper has been held for four or five days, time amply sufficient for the arrival of the officers to have come here and taken him back to Gadsden, where he is wanted.

The hearing came up yesterday afternoon, but upon the showing of Sergeant Jennings, of the police force, who had young Skipper in his custody, he was remanded back to the custody of the police department until Monday morning. This was done to allow the Alabama officers to get here. Sergeant Jennings showed to the ordinary that young Skipper was badly wanted in Goodwater, Ala., on two counts. He is wanted badly by the express company, who have a package, and by his bondsmen on another case of robbery. A telegram was received by the police department yesterday from the Alabama officers stating that they would be in Atlanta soon. If the officers do not get here before Monday young Skipper will most likely be released.

Committed to Jail.

Walter Cochran, a man who came near killing his wife with a razor three weeks ago, and who is thought to be one of the perpetrators of the famous Barrett killing at Griffin sixteen months ago, has been committed to jail on the charge of assault with intent to murder, but the officers are still working on the clue they have in hand, and believe they will yet succeed in bringing Cochran as the man who did the brutal killing.

Captain Thompson and Callan Beavers have been working on the case, and from what they have learned they feel more confident that they are on the right track. They have been industriously at work on the case for more than a week.
